Test Saddle Contract

Barefoot Belgium offers you the possibility to try one of our test saddles and accessories for a period of one week. This offer is on a first come first serve bases and is dependant on availability. This offer is only available to clients of Belgium and Netherlands.

To make use of a test saddle we request a payment of a refundable deposit of half the purchase price of the saddle and relevant accessories. The security deposit must be paid before the test saddle may be collected or before it will be posted. You will also need to supply a valid copy of your identification (for example, a copy of your passport). The saddle and any other accessories that were used for the test period must be returned or posted in the same condition as received. This must be done promptly after the test period has expired. Once the test saddle has been received and checked by Barefoot Belgium, the security deposit will be refunded less €15 handling fee. You will be refunded this handling fee if you decide to order a new saddle from Barefoot Belgium. If the saddle or accessories are not received in similar condition as when sent, there may be an additional deduction to cover this. All postage costs are for the person requesting the use of the test equipment.

Should the test equipment not be returned on time, the tester will be charged €5 per day for each day that the test equipment is late, unless the person requesting the use of the test equipment arranges a new return date that is in agreement with Barefoot Belgium. If the test equipment is still not returned after 30 days after the due date, the tester will be reported to the police and Barefoot Belgium will deem the test equipment as stolen by the tester. All paid security deposits will then be forfeited by the tester.
